If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and boggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels: removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water acids and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take about a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it is no longer irritating, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, can be taken in water, and makes a delightful, pleasant lithia-water drink.

OIL FIELD REPORTED TO EXIST IN ST. FRANCIS CO.

FORREST CITY, Ark., June 20. (Sp.)—As a result of a geological survey recently made of Crowley Ridge, the high land lying between Forrest City and the St. Francis river, it is reported that positive proof of the existence of oil under these lands has been found. The surface of this territory is similar to that of the oil producing fields in Oklahoma, Kansas and other states. The geologist sets forth in his report that in the formation of Crowley ridge the sea were very active in making deposits of organic matter and that he has discovered an abundance of such organism which is characteristic in all oil formations. This ridge seems to be filled with crinoids, harpoids and other deposits which have always been taken as sure indications of oil in the producing fields of other states. The geologist also reports the discovery of outcroppings of blue shale containing about 4 per cent of carbon, which seems to have been pushed into the shale by a covering or deposit which is in the shale below. The oil is seeping out of the crevices in the shale by pressure of gases below.

The oil seepage continued indicates that the oil is of high quality and in great abundance. Evidence was found that oil sand will be struck at a depth of from 800 to 1,200 feet, while the deepest sands would likely be encountered at a depth of from 1,600 to 1,800 feet. Several locations for drilling have been made, but no drilling will be started until at least 10,000 acres have been secured in one body.

NEGRO ASSAILANT SAID TO BE SURROUNDED

LAUREL, Miss., June 20.—After a chase lasting from Sunday morning, 400 men with two packs of bloodhounds were reported here late Thursday evening John Hatfield, negro, who is alleged to have assaulted a white girl near Ellisville, Miss., Saturday night, with the expectation of capturing the negro.

The negro, it is reported, when the woman hotel clerk left an interurban car at Ellisville to walk home, forced her to a thicket. She escaped at 10 o'clock in the morning after the negro had torn practically all her clothing off with which he disguised himself.

The posse afterward found the woman's clothing which the negro had abandoned in a cabin when he passed closely in the chase. Business in Laurel and Ellisville has been suspended practically since the hunt for the fugitive began, and farmers left their tractors in fields to join the men. If Hatfield is captured a lynching is thought certain.

Quality's Proof —

(Unsolicited)

Memphis, Tenn. June 13, 1919.

The Quality Motor Car Co.
Madison Avenue, Memphis, Tenn.

Gentlemen:—

Believing credit should be given where due, I wish to voluntarily bring to your attention what I consider unexampled service in regard to protection of the autoist's interests in batteries.

Recently I was told by a "local battery service station" that the battery in my Dodge car would not take a satisfactory recharge. The station also informed me that the best I could do would be use the battery until the insufficient charge was exhausted and then purchase a new battery.

This battery soon afterwards went "dead". I took it to your establishment, leaving it with instructions to open and see if it would be worth repairing. I was surprised, a few days later, to receive a postal notifying me that my battery was ready. I feared a large bill for repairs. I was further surprised, on calling you by phone to learn that the battery had taken a sufficient charge and that the total cost to me was 25 cents less than the other "service station" made for an insufficient charge.

This battery is still giving most satisfactory service after several weeks, having tested up fully charged on three occasions since. Your battery expert tells me that the reason of the battery's not taking a charge was that one cell was entirely discharged and that it was necessary to discharge all others before the entire battery would receive the satisfactory charge. Evidently the other "service station" neglected to do this.

It is still more surprising to me, when I realize that the battery in question had already been "rebuys" once by the other "service station".

Gratefully yours,
